

Working together for reconciliation in industry.

IMCN is an Indigenous-led and governed non-profit member organization dedicated to addressing economic inequity through the advancement of education, employment, investment, and partnership opportunities for Indigenous people and communities.

Our Purpose

IMCN was created to:

- Increase opportunities for Indigenous businesses and communities
- Build Indigenous professional and business capacity in industry
- Amplify Indigenous voices in advocacy and policy development
- Showcase the power of Indigenous values
- Lead the discussion on Reconciliation and industry
- Share and generate best practices and thought leadership

Our Values

We believe:

- Indigenous economic inclusion benefits everyone. Partnership between Indigenous and non-Indigenous industry and governments will fuel a powerful economy.
- Indigenous values play an essential role in the design and implementation of sustainable business practices that benefit future generations.
- Collective solutions transform systems — collaboration is essential to positive relations.
- Wisdom is gained from listening to those with industry expertise and lived experience. Effective decision-making requires hearing all voices.

Working together for reconciliation in industry.

Who We Are

Indigenous and non-Indigenous businesses, government, non-profit organizations, and Indigenous communities wanting to grow opportunities in the manufacturing and contracting sectors.

What We Do

IMCN supports increased access to capacity-building, business development, partnership, and investment opportunities by sharing best practices and resources, promoting IMCN members, facilitating and participating in targeted learning and networking events, and advocating for the needs of members in government and industry procurement and policy spaces.

How We Do It

IMCN's 2024-27 Strategic Plan outlines three strategic goals identified by the Board of Directors that will guide IMCN for the next three years.

Support

Maintain stable funding base through the pursuit of and commitment to government grants, sponsorship, and membership growth. Expand IMCN's role as a convener and leading voice for equitable access to business development, jobs, and training opportunities for Indigenous Peoples.

Connect

Increase engagement with existing and potential membership through in-person initiatives and enhanced online platforms.

Build

Collect and develop resources, and support professional and business development that builds capacity of members through the sharing of best practices and opportunities to connect with peers, mentors, and partners.